

Supply availability and interim device colour

Eli Lilly (Lilly) Canada's HumaPen® SAVVIO® (SAVVIO), a reusable insulin delivery device for use with the Humalog®, Humulin®, and Basaglar®, is currently offered in the most popular colours of red and graphite.

In an effort to manage inventory for a temporary period, Lilly will start fulfilling orders for SAVVIO devices with an interim colour pink. Below is when we anticipate pink SAVVIO devices to be distributed to your respective wholesalers:

Week of June 17

Week of July 22

As soon as the SAVVIO devices become available in red and graphite, Lilly will stop distributing SAVVIO pens in pink, and we will notify you to that effect.

Update regarding expiry dates

Lilly is also phasing in a printed expiry date on the carton for all medical devices. The pink SAVVIO will be the first Lilly device to carry a printed expiry date on the carton.

As with any other Lilly product with an expiry date, we ask that you do not dispense the SAVVIO pen after the expiry date printed on the carton.

Ordering information

SAVVIO devices are available to retail pharmacies at no cost for distribution free of charge to customers using Lilly insulin products.

Orders for SAVVIO can be placed through regular wholesaler distribution channels, or through regular hospital distribution channels, such as the Canadian Pharmaceutical Distribution Network (CPDN).
